Gurukulam Update

With our beloved guru, Pujya Swami Dayananda Saraswati's blessings and sankalpa for a centre of learning close to Mumbai, we are happy to share some good news! On the eve of Jagadguru Adi Shankaracharya's Jayanti, earlier this month, we registered a sale of agreement for land close to Mumbai (two hours away) for the construction of a gurukulam and retreat centre. All your contributions – big and small, over many years have made a difference. Many thanks to Sunitha and Suresh Balakrishna who are spearheading this project of seva. All those who wish to join in this seva and volunteer in any way, kindly contact Sunitha at gurukulam@vedicwisdom.in.

A centre of learning is like the ghat, on the banks of the river from where you partake of the ever-flowing jnana-ganga. While all may not be living near Ganga ji, most Hindu homes have a small bottle of Ganga jal. A few drops of Ganga sanctify us while taking a bath on festivals or are used for abhishekam during festivals or sprinkled in the homes for shuddhi or a sip is offered to the dying one. Such is its purity! Such is our shraddha! The flow of blessing continues through our life and we are confident that the flow of learning through our gurukulam will be established and continue for generations to come.

Have a blessed June.

With love and prayers,

Brahmavidananda
